Industry Veteran Ron Stiles Named Transportation Person of the Year, Awarded by Reading Traffic Club

WEST CHESTER, PA, May 13, 2009 –

Transportation industry veteran Ron Stiles was named 2009 Transportation Person of the Year during the Reading Traffic Club's 76th Annual Dinner Meeting in March. The award was presented to Mr. Stiles by Club Treasurer George Stuhl, vice president of operations for DM Transportation. The award came on the eve of Ron Stiles' election to President of the Reading Traffic Club. Mr. Stiles was also awarded with a proclamation issued by the State of Pennsylvania and sponsored by State Senator Michael O'Pake recognizing Ron for his significant achievements in the industry and community.

"I have been in this business a long time, and have met a lot of people, said Ron. "The Reading Traffic Club has always treated me well and I am grateful for their recognition. I hope to give something back to them by leading our Club through a successful year as President."

Ron Stiles grew up in the transportation business and followed in his father's footsteps as a sales executive. Early in his career, he worked for Preston, with management responsibilities in sales and operations up and down the east coast. Ron is currently an Account Executive for A. Duie Pyle, and works out of their headquarters office in West Chester, PA. Ron is a past member of Delta Nu Alpha National Traffic Fraternity and is involved in the planning of dozens of industry and customer events in the Reading area. He takes an active role in his community work, including recent fundraising efforts to help build the new baseball field for the Birdsboro Orioles.

"We are proud of Ron's accomplishments," said Jim Latta, A. Duie Pyle owner and vice president of business development. "Ron joined us nearly four years ago. He is one of the most genuine people you'll meet and his customers will tell you the same. He has earned the respect of his peers and the people he works with."
